A LITTLE BIT OF HISTORY

A friendly wager between friends led to the Quindanning Picnic Races being held in a tradition that has lasted till this day.

Over a few drinks at the local watering hole in Quindanning, the then licensee, Bob Burns and the Quindanning lads, Len Little Junior and Geoff Reid, made a challenge over who had the better horse. A wager of $100 was set, an offer to use Rob and Ros Venn's property, was made, and a day was set for New years Day 1978.

Word soon got around and the event attracted some 800 spectators. As a result of the days' success it was decided to resurrect the Quindanning Picnic Race Club which had disbanded in 1941.

Known as the "Brumby Races", the club was originally formed in 1919. Families would arrive at the races with a horse and cart, boil the Billy, race the horse, harness up again and go home.

The resurrection of the races in 1978 has seen the Quindanning Picnic Races become a popular way to spend Easter Saturday.

The Quindanning Picnic Race Club is totally non-profit making, with all funds raised going to charities in the district. Main beneficiaries over the years have been the Quindanning Bush Fire Brigade, the Boddington St. John Ambulance and the Quindanning Hall.

Held in a bush setting, with rustic bar and building, the emphasis on the day is having a good time in true Aussie bush style. Starting off with a Gymkhana in the morning, the day consists of many novelties, including senior and junior barrel races, and hack and pony races in the afternoon.

The main event of the day is the annual Quindanning Cup, a powder puff Derby, donkey events and stock horse race for the locals, add colour to the day. Live Entertainment keeps the evening swinging and camping overnight is encouraged.

Hot showers are available and yards for the campers horses. Delicious hot food is also prepared and available throughout the day, and on Friday night for campers. Hot country breakfasts are available on Sunday for campers.

TRIBUTE TO 'JUMBO'

5 June 1941 – 3 July 2017

Sadly, the 40th Anniversary of the Quindanning Picnic Races will not be celebrated with the physical presence of James Munday, otherwise and affectionately known as Jumbo – but he will definitely be 'at the racecourse' in spirit.

Even though Jumbo was not a horse rider himself, he relished and valued the annual picnic races, was well-known for his love of making speeches and doted on the children who participated in this family event.

James Munday lived his whole life in Quindanning and was a valued community member, being honoured with Life Membership of the Boddington Football Club as well as the Quindanning Race Club in 2003. Records show that he was the inaugural president in 1979 and served in that position more than 22 years and was Vice-President for six years. In the main, Jumbo was responsible for the initial drafting of the lease and the Club's Constitution, as well as many, if not all, of the construction works at the racetrack.

His dedication to the Quindanning Picnic race club was such that he enabled the event to continue through some difficult times every year for the last 39 .

It seems fitting that after 39 years of club administration, with most committee meetings being held at the local Quindanning Inne, Jumbo's final committee meeting was at the racetrack on 6 May 2017 – and, until he passed away on 3 July 2017, was still busy making plans for the big 40th celebrations in 2018.

Jumbo – we will miss you and remember you always – especially every Easter at our Quindanning Picnic Races.
